international learned societies, and was awarded the Volney prize of the French Institute in 1906. His chief works are: "Progress in Language," "Lehrbuch der Phonetik," "Growth and Structure of the English Language" and a modern English grammar.

One of the novel features of the next summer session will be a series of conventions of different academic societies. The Astronomical Society of the Pacific will meet Saturday, July 1; the Classical Association of Northern California on Friday and Saturday, July 2 and 3; the Pacific Short Story Club, Tuesday, July 10; the Pacific Coast Association of Physics and Chemistry Teachers, Saturday, July 10; and the California Association of Teachers of History, Wednesday, July 11.

The Dean of the summer session wishes special publicity given to the fact that the railways have this year granted an extension of the time for which return tickets may be used to one month after the close of the session, thus enabling persons attending the session to visit the exposition at San Francisco before returning home. Especial attention is directed to the check report which is required of those who are attending the session, and to the fact that in each of these departments a much wider range of courses is offered than last year.

The University recently greatly extended the list of matriculation subjects so that now music, commercial subjects, natural art, horticulture, etc., may be offered in addition to the traditional requirements. At the coming summer session courses will be offered in many of these subjects so that teachers will have an excellent opportunity of learning what methods the University approves.

SUMMER SCHOOLS.

Now that the regular session has closed the chief interest at the University is in the approaching summer school. The authorities are sparing no pains in their preparations to make this the best session that they have ever held. Since the publication of the annual bulletin, a number of important additions have been made to the faculty. Professor Otto Jespersen, the eminent Danish linguist, has been added to the notable group of distinguished professors who will come to Berkeley from other universities. Professor Jespersen will give two courses in the department of English. One on the science of phonetics which will be especially valuable for the student of historical grammar, and for teachers of languages. The second course will deal with international languages. Dr. Jespersen is professor of the English language and literature in the University of Copenhagen. He is an honorary member of a number of

CARD OF THANKS.

May 15.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Through the columns of the Terminal I take this opportunity to thank the voters and my friends of this city for their support in my election to the city council. I was pressed into the office, and I hope to do my share of duty for the whole city honestly, faithfully, and impartially and with justice to all.

Very respectfully,

Edward McDuff.

Proprietor of the St. Francis.

Public Attention.

We have now completed our new SLAUGHTER HOUSE near San Pablo, which places us in a position to give the meat consumers of Richmond the benefit of a slaughterhouse all kinds of stock on our premises. This new plant is constructed in the most up-to-date and sanitary way, leaving nothing to be desired as to the cleanly and proper handling of our meats. Mr. Chas. Stokker is superintending all work at the plant and will be pleased to show us EVERY DETAIL TO THE PUBLIC.

HISTORY, FOR TOTS.

School ma'am in Natural History class for Tots in Richmond Schools—"Summe may arise and tell me what an Avenue Contractor is. Teacher aside: Jim, will you quit throwing spit balls?" Well, Sam answer promptly. (Sam) An Avenue Contractor is a water wagon. (School ma'am in Natural History) No, that is not quite it, Summe. Will some bright boy answer now? You will get out at two, if you do, and the teacher exclaims. Johnny Doolittle raises his hand—I know what an Avenue Contractor is—he is a monkey. (Why John, said the School ma'am, abashed. Why do you answer in that rude manner? Johnny biddies) I heard Sister Sad tell her class that the Avenue Contractor was a monkey for not fixing the street, an' I guess Sam knows 'cause she goes to that air 'Varsity at Berkeley where they study all bugs 'nd animals. (School ma'am) The Natural History class for Tots is dismissed full next term after the Yosemite trip.

CITY DRINKING FOUNTAIN.

West Side Women Have Ordered the Improvement.

As was previously printed in these columns, the assurance has come to the Terminal office that the drinking fountain of each city will be placed at the junction of Washington Avenue and Park place. To the West Side Woman's Improvement Club is due this useful as well as ornamental gift, which carries out the idea of the old "town pump" in colonial days in the sanitary, latest model fountain, and the "town clock" is a forecasted future event when placed upon the tower of a city hall. This movement for a drinking fountain for our city represents the expense of much stored energy from the harmless rattle and tag day, and the names of all the rapt ones who boosted will go down on a bright page on the leaves of the future Richmond historian.

The fountain is being built at the J. L. Mott iron works at New York City, and consists of beautiful bronze and will stand 15 feet 9 inches high, with a base of 4 feet 7 inches square.

Its proposed figure is that of an "American Boy." It is provided with a water supply, and the design of the fountain is a tribute to the city's future. The fountain is a symbol of the city's future and a monument to the city's past.

TOWN TALK

The Terminal turns out the best quality of job printing.

L. E. Howe, undertaker, was in Martinez Monday.

Richard De Barrows is in Los Angeles for a month.

The Carnation Bakery is out with a brand new wagon.

The Terminal has added some new type. Its type is all new.

The Santa Fe will change its time table, effective June 6.

Editor Kennon was a Martinez visitor Friday.

Judge Clarence Odell, city recorder, was in Martinez Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Smith have returned from the Sierras.

Call up 3491 for carpet cleaning. Prices cut in two. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Gardelli's Carnation Bakery has opened a branch in the U. S. Post Office Building.

Macdonald and Washington avenues are very busy streets nowadays.

Traffic wagons are busy hauling cement, dirt, rock and gravel for the new buildings.

The Good Government League will be transformed into a commercial body.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Lawrence visited friends on the West Side yesterday.

The Terminal has a large growing circulation of interesting readers.

H. A. Dover was down from Martinez soliciting subscriptions for the Standard.

There appears to be a growing activity all through our city on every side.

Many people by the car load are attending the big sales in the Macdonald avenue stores.

The McMillens are domiciled in their pretty home at Hillcrest on the West Side.

W. H. Conn, well known real estate broker, has returned from the Turkish district.

A large number of San Francisco people are coming to Richmond now.

Get your job printing and advertising at the Richmond Terminal printery, "The One-Stop Printery."

The Terminal, the "One-Stop Printery," is the place where you get your printing and advertising done.

The Merry-makers have closed their merry-making season, after having enjoyed a merry-making season.

Tuesday was "attorney day" for Richmond at Martinez. A. G. McBride and Ben Griffin were up to the "seat."

Pillow Bros. will soon have Gallop coal at $9.00 a ton. It appears that there are no diamonds in coal lumps now.

Paul Glaser is building a $2,500 residence on Ninth street, near Macdonald. Paul is a pioneer builder.

Macdonald avenue continues to be the "market street" of the city. Many west side people come up to the big stores to trade.

Mr. C. M. Wilkinson of Fruitvale visited friends in Richmond this week and was accompanied by Mrs. A. M. Ott.

The work on the two-story re-entrenched concrete building on Macdonald avenue is making good progress.

H. C. Barlow, the efficient and congenial and painstaking acting city clerk, was in Martinez Tuesday on official business.

D. R. Baker has opened a confectionery store and branch bakery in the U. S. postoffice building, Macdonald avenue.

The examinations in Richmond public schools were in progress all this week. Pupils that were on the honorary list had a snap.

The Eagles minstrel show at the opera house Saturday night was a success. The show was complete with all the late funny isms.

The Southern Pacific Company is offering some very attractive low rate excursions this summer. Watch their posters.

On May 24 a small, five May blossom arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McVedek, a daughter.

There were several society folk of this city who took in the invitation given by Heald-Dixon College in Oakland last night.

A manhole in the subway was too high to carry off the surface water, but after lowering the water drained away.

O. J. Rogers, a pioneer in Richmond real estate, has returned from a business trip at Goldfield and Tonopah.

Another paper has started on the West Side to keep the leader company. Its ads are somewhat less than those of the leader.

Have your carpets and your rugs cleaned on the floor. The ideal vacuum cleaner will do the business. Call up Richmond 3491, for particulars.

W. B. Pfafflin contemplates engaging in the lumber industry in Richmond, and probably will run a box factory in connection with one of our local lumber yards.

Miss Jennie Elders, accused by A. Bounin with pecking his pockets and was arrested while employed at the Manhattan hotel, denied the charge.

Whether Macdonald avenue is paved or not the merchants are looking for business there because they like to do business from the center of population.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Eichenman are now settled in Richmond. From the showers of rice, Clarence thinks one marriage ordeal in a lifetime is enough.

Grandma Jones, who lives in the suburbs, can reach Richmond's center now every twenty minutes, or there is a change of time schedule on the East Shore & Suburban railway.

H. L. Peoria, the well-known artist and concrete contractor, has completed a re-entrenched concrete building on the corner of Cutting boulevard and 10th at crossing El Dorado street.

The Terminal, the "One-Stop Printery," is the place where you get your printing and advertising done.

Rev. C. R. Brown of Oakland First Congregational church played first base at baseball last Saturday at East Shore Park. His playing was as good as that of Rev. Billy Sunday, "the baseball evangelist."

The East Shore & Suburban Railway Company on Wednesday inaugurated a twenty minute car schedule on all of its side lines. Cars leave Macdonald avenue now north and south at the same time every twenty minutes.

A good sign that Richmond is getting busy is the new time schedule of the East Shore & Suburban Railway. A revival of activity makes better time schedules. The people do their work and the car systems do theirs.

Yesterday Mrs. Noah M. Blankenship was hostess at "Social Day" of the Woman's Improvement Club. Mrs. E. L. Smallwood and Mrs. Fred Schram reported their experiences at the convention of women's clubs at Del Monte.

Warren McLay of Pinole, president of the Good Roads Club of Contra Costa County, announces that the next meeting will be held at Richmond June 5. The Terminal editor was voted a member of the club. "Good Roads" Charles Rini will be present and give a talk.

Dr. Robert H. Goodale, a physician, is a new arrival among our professional men and has opened a suite of offices adjoining the handsome ones of Attorney Ben Griffin in the U. S. Postoffice building on Macdonald avenue. Dr. Goodale is in love with this great city. His family will be settled about August 1.

Some local dry goods merchants are getting the habit of patronizing out-of-town printers. They should not feel offended, then, if some of the Terminal's readers go to Oakland to shop, for they do not see your ad. The Terminal boosts for all and is boosting every day. The Terminal is not peacynish.

The Carnegie library, which is to be erected near Macdonald avenue and Sixth street this summer is to cost $17,500. It has been about decided to have a separate building for heating. The classic instead of the mission style was adopted, but it was very difficult to decide which plan it was best to accept.

FAME AND FORTUNE IS FOR ARTIST

Portola Festival Committee Launches Competition that Arouses Widespread Interest.

Prize of One Hundred Dollars Offered as Incentive for Genius.

Here is a chance for both fame and fortune for some California artist. The executive committee of the Portola Festival, to be held in San Francisco October 19th to 24th next, has arranged for a poster competition for artists. There are but few restrictions, and the individuality of the designer has full sway.

With the beautiful Miss Vergilia Bogue, who was recently selected Queen of Beauty of California, as a model, the artists have an inspiration seldom given.

It is the object of this competition to produce a poster characteristic of the state of California and of credit to the Golden West. Every artist and every art student is urged to enter the competition.

A prize of one hundred dollars for the successful aspirant has been offered as an incentive to genius. The poster finally selected will be distributed over the world, so wherever the lucky artist may be he will reap fame and fortune from the wide publicity.

The competition will close on Saturday, June 12, so that every one should get busy immediately. Here are the requirements: The poster must be in color and in the standard "Sanson" 6x7 1/2 inch size. It must be submitted by Saturday, June 12, 1909.

It is to be made in four colors and the design should be characteristic of the state of California. The only lettering to be on the poster is: "Portola Festival, San Francisco, October 19 to 24, 1909." The size is to be twenty-two inches wide by twenty-eight inches high.

A photo of Miss Vergilia Bogue may be had upon application to the secretary's office. This may be used in connection with the contest in any way the judgment of the artist may dictate. The poster is to be signed with some distinguishing mark, the same mark to be put in a sealed envelope together with the name and address of the designer of the poster. There should be no signature on the drawing, other than the mark. The poster and envelope should be sent together. Entries must not be mailed or taken.

The Grand Theatre under the new management of Andy and Gus on Macdonald avenue gives a show Sunday night.

By Our Formula

We produce in Hood's Sarsaparilla a medicine that has an unparalleled record of cures of Scrofula, eczema, eruptions, catarrh, rheumatism, anemia, nervousness, that tired feeling, loss of appetite, etc.

The combination and proportions of the more than twenty different remedial agents contained in Hood's Sarsaparilla are known only to ourselves, so there can be no substitute.

This medicine makes healthy and strong the "Little Soldiers" in your blood—those corpuscles that fight the disease germs constantly attacking you.

Investing in Nature.

A man must invest himself near at hand, and in common things, and be content with a steady and moderate return, if he would know the blessedness of a cheerful heart and the sweetness of a walk over the round earth. This is a lesson the American has yet to learn—capability of amusement on a low key. He expects rapid and extraordinary returns. He would make the very elemental laws pay usury. He has nothing to invest in a walk, it is too slow, too cheap. We crave the astonishing, the highways of the gods when we see them—always a sign of the decay of faith and simplicity of man.—John Burroughs.

SUICIDES IN PRUSSIA.

Statistics of Motives and Methods Published by Government.

The Prussian government has published the statistics of suicide in the kingdom during the past year. The figures and the facts illuminating them must interest sociologists in America, where Germans form such a large and worthy part of the population.

The number of suicides in Prussia increased from 7,208 in 1907 to 7,537 in 1908, in a ratio greater than the increase in population, accounted for twenty-one persons in every 100,000 of the population voluntarily sought death.

Nearly four times as many men as women took their lives, the proportion being 27 to 1.

Sixty-two children between the ages of 10 and 15 committed suicide during the year. Two of these had failed in school, two because of fear of their parents, the others from "disappointed love."

More children in a given year in Saxony than in any other Prussian province. It may be only a coincidence that the school regulations in Saxony are the strictest in the kingdom. For the number of women who killed themselves was greatest in Saxony, too.

The notice of one-quarter of the 7,537 suicides are registered as "unknown," another quarter unquestionably were insane.

Then follow in order sickness, alcohol, sorrow, disappointed affection, remorse, the stings of conscience and weariness of life. Under a total of 744 causes, of the suicides whose attention was attracted, 70 per cent were women.

As equally valuable are the statistics as to the factors in methods of suicide. One hundred and twenty-five of the 7,537 suicides were committed by hanging, 100 by shooting, 100 by poisoning, 100 by drowning, 100 by cutting, 100 by other means.

There were twenty seasons too many of suicides destroyed, then, says in spring, perhaps because the return of the weather makes misery more unendurable. When, with all its hardships, was frost from suicides.

Dispositions Easily Spoiled.

While St. Bernard does not appear particularly good, does their disposition, but the disposition may be spoiled by a single person, has learned to his sorrow. A St. Bernard will not stand being put on a chair.

St. Bernard has a very curious habit, make a friend of him, and he will rival in his confidence the very monks that he has been trained to serve.

A certain St. Bernard was celebrated for his charming manners, and was beloved by his master, and poor during the summer time, stayed in a yard.

At last his master sent for him, with orders that he was to travel in the summer time. The dog was moody and sulky during the early part of the journey, but when the guard began to put on the brake the brute flew savagely at him, and if his master had been a few miles longer, would undoubtedly have killed him.

The dog's temper had gone forever, and he had a very short life. St. Bernard's temper, when tested in a house or when allowed to come into one several times during the day. They grow on growing until they are 2 years old and sometimes afterwards. Unfortunately they are not long lived dogs and if they become ill, they often die very suddenly.

CONSTRUCTING A POULTRY COLONY HOUSE.

A circular prepared by James Dryden and Alfred G. Lunn, and issued by the Department of Poultry Husbandry of the Oregon Agricultural College, relates to the proper housing of poultry, and describes the manner of making a serviceable colony house.

The purpose of housing fowls is to increase productivity. A little shelter from the cold winds and storms will add to the comfort of the fowls and therefore to the egg yield.

A cold wave means a check to egg yield, and the reason is probably because the change means a sudden demand for increased fuel or food to keep up the heat of the body, and the food that has been going into the making of eggs will be drawn upon for that purpose.

It is the food that furnishes the heat. Fowls will maintain heated health roosting in the trees, but sudden and frequent changes in the weather interfere with egg production.

Fowls roosting in some of the so-called modern houses are no better off than in the trees, not so well off. The temperature and moisture conditions are often worse than in the trees and the health of the fowls is not so good.

The principal reason why so many poultry houses fail to meet the requirements for egg production is that the variations in light and day temperature are too great. The attempt has been, in many cases, to provide a warm house, with double walls and double windows, and the simple fact is that such a house will never be warm or dry without artificial heat.

Artificial heat up to date has been demonstrated to be impracticable. The glass window house, unless otherwise well ventilated, will be damp and cold because of the great variations between night and day temperature.

The main requirements of a good poultry house are: Good ventilation for fowls require considerably more fresh air than other farm animals; second, it should afford protection from cold winds and storms. Fowls object to cold winds. Unless the house is provided with shelter where she can scratch and exercise she won't be productive. Activity is the life of the hen.

The ventilation can best be furnished by leaving one end of the house open or covered with burlap or canvas, using glass windows unless necessary for light. The idea of building a warm house should be abolished. It is shelter that is needed. The house should be built in such a way that the fowls will not roost near the open front where they would be exposed to winds. A long house is more expensive than one more nearly square. A long, narrow house is also a cold house, having more exposed surface for a given capacity than a square house.

The size of house necessary for a certain flock will vary in different sections. Where there is little or no snow and where the fowls can be outdoors every day in the year, two square feet of floor space per fowl will be ample.

Where the climate is such that the fowls will seek shelter part of the year, rather than go outdoors on the range, considerably more space should be provided, six to ten square feet per fowl. The idea should be not to crowd them so much that their activity will be interfered with. Whether the shelter is provided by enlarging the house or providing cheap scratch sheds is immaterial. Two square feet per fowl, or even less, is ample for roosting quarters.

Poultry keeping is most successful where the colony system prevails. The colony system means the housing of fowls in small houses, preferably portable, where the fowls have free range. The chief advantage is that the fowls are more active or busier than when confined in yards, second, there is less danger from outbreaks of disease, as it is possible to keep the house on clean ground by moving them occasionally; and third, they require less feeding and care, as they pick up considerable food on the range. Another advantage of this system is that the fowls will rid the farm of many injurious insects, such as grasshoppers. Then, the colony system will fit in with crop rotations and for part of the year the fowls will live on the stubble fields. A good size to build a colony house is 7 x 12. A team of horses will pull a house of this size, and it will accommodate thirty to forty fowls. In very cold sections I would advise the curtains, front, using eight-ounce duck, covering one end entirely with this. In most sections a plain open front of poultry netting will do, the wire being put on as a protection against wild animals.

Construction.—The runners are made of 3 x 6-inch by 14 feet rough material, and act as side sills for the house. They should be beveled at ends in order to slide easily. The cross sills are 3 x 4 inches by 7 feet. They are set 2 inches into the runners and 12 inches from the ends, and fastened with half-inch bolts. When the siding is put on vertically there is no studding used. The plates are 2 x 3 inches by 12 feet, beveled at each end. To the plates are nailed the 1 x 12-inch by 5-foot side-boards and these are battened with 1 x 3-inch. The siding is nailed flush with the top ### of plate and laps 3 inches on runners.

The roof is one-third pitch, or 2 feet 4 inches at peak from top line of plates. There are five pairs of rafters cut with 1 inch plumb cut at plate. The roof boards are 1 x 3 inch material, set 3 inches apart. The roof is shingled and laid 5 inches to the weather. The front is covered with 1 inch mesh wire. The cornice is made of 1 x 8 inch boards and projects 5 inches outside of walls. The frieze board, 1 x 4 inch, is nailed up tight against the cornice. The door is 2 x 6 feet and made from 1 x 3-inch material. The nest platform is 2 feet from the ground. It is nailed to a cleat on the side of the house and braced from top of runner. The platform is 22 inches by 5 feet. The nests are made of 5-gallon oil cans, the top and part of front being cut out, 2 inches is left of front to hold in nest material, and a small strip at top is fitted a sloping top, which keeps the chickens from standing on nests, and helps to darken the nest. The droppings platform is made of 1 x 8 inch ship-lap, is 2 feet 6 inches from floor in front and 2 feet 3 inches in rear. The slope permits the board to be cleaned more readily. For the same reason the boards should be put on from front to rear. The perches are made of 2 x 3-inch material, set flat. They should also be level and about 12 inches from droppings board in front. The roosts are set 8 inches apart.

The lumber bill, hardware and paint are as follows:

Sills (runners), two pieces 3 x 6 inches by 14 feet, rough; cross-pieces, one piece 3 x 4 inches by 14 feet, rough; plates, rafters, roosts, 134 linear feet 2 x 3 inches, siding, 13 pieces 1 x 12 inches by 10 feet, 4 pieces 1 x 12 inches by 14 feet; cornice, 54 linear feet 1 x 8 inches; base, 52 linear feet 1 x 8 inches; ridge and platform, 2 linear feet, 1 x 5 inches; frieze and corner boards, 80 linear feet, 1 x 4 inches; battens and trimmings, 330 linear feet, 1 x 3 inches; droppings board, nest cover, 80 linear feet, 1 x 8 inches ship-lap No. 2, shingles, 1,000.

Five pounds 8d cut nails, 16 wire finish; 2 pounds 6d wire finish; 5 pounds 1d single nails; 1 pound 14 inch brads; 18 feet poultry netting, 1 inch mesh 2 feet wide; 1 pair 1-inch T hinges, 1 lock.

One gallon cross-grain stain, 1 gallon paint.

The total cost of all material is between $15 and $20.

PIG-RAISING FOR DAIRY FARMERS.

Growing and fattening young pigs is one of the most profitable sidelines for the dairy farmer to follow. It affords the most money in the shortest time, considering the extra capital that is invested in the business and the quantity of waste and by-products of the farm that enters into its production.

Many dairymen who have made a success of feeding a limited number of pigs each year have concluded that hog feeding on a larger scale would prove equally profitable. But very few have made the business a success beyond feeding the number required to consume the by-products from the farm and dairy. The number of pigs fed should be determined by the quantity of skim-milk and other odds and ends of the farm which may be utilized as a basis in forming their rations, during their growing period.

Of course the feed must not be confined to skim-milk, but must be supplemented with other feeds. Other feed, such as grain, should be provided, and also a patch of alfalfa. Orchard and farm.

STOPPAGE AT THE POINT OF TEAT.

A very common trouble in the ordinary dairy is to find an animal with the point of the teat closed, either due to a bruise of the teat itself, or to infection of the milk duct which causes a little scab to form over the point of the teat and unless this is properly handled with care and cleanliness, the infection is apt to cause a loss of the entire udder.

The proper manner in which to handle and treat such cases is to thoroughly wash the teat in an antiseptic solution, then dip a teat plug into a healing ointment, and insert it into the point of the teat, allowing same to remain from one milking to another. In this manner closure of the point of the teats can be overcome in a very simple and satisfactory way.

Never use a milking tube if it can be possibly avoided, as there is much danger of infecting the entire quarter by the use of the tube.—Dr. David Roberts, Wisconsin State Veterinarian.

LAND VALUES.

Following the disastrous panics of 1857, 1873 and 1893 farm lands in the United States depreciated in value because in the aggregate they were heavily mortgaged and foreclosures were universal. Not so in 1907-08. Heavy encumbrances were the exception and not the rule, the consequence of which was and is that farm values are firm and appreciating. The strength of the nation lies in the stability of land values and in the prosperity of farmers.

GARDEN PLANTING HINTS.

The azaleas bloom late in winter. Always leave fuchsias in cellar until March.

Plants that are not growing need no fertilizers.

Make out your lists for seeds and plants early.

Turn plants frequently to keep from being "drawn."

Too much fertilizer develops a weak but rapid growth.

Take no chances in lighting insects; fight to exterminate.

Do not shower plants on cloudy days and keep out of sun when wet.

Large pots for foliage, small pots for flowers. Plenty of sunshine for geraniums.

Amryllis and Queen Aly should be brought into light the last of March for May blooming.

Keep window garden clean. Remove dead leaves, scrub pots, shower foliage keep window glass clean.

Paste paper over all cracks and openings of windows containing plants. Tighten loose panes with putty.

If soil in the bulb pot in the cellar seems dry, moisten moderately, but don't keep wet, or the bulb will rot.

HIS GREAT ACHIEVEMENT.

Hoover's Discovery of the Nature of the Universe.

The principal of the Village academy at Cambridge, Ohio, during the latter of the past century, was a Baldwin Bishop. He was a man whose heart and soul were in his work. He was sure, in some unexpected and original way, to show his disapproval of any individual in his institution with a view to his conversion.

During the week before the school session ended for vacation, examination embracing the subjects studied by the pupils during the whole term took place in the classroom. During this time it was the custom of the relatives and friends of the students to visit the academy. On the occasion referred to, the presence of a number of young lady acquaintances spurred on the boys to do their best.

The subject on which they were expected to show their proficiency was that of natural philosophy. After several members of the class had distinguished themselves more or less creditably in their attempts to explain familiar phenomena, Hoover, who had evidently been reading the order, was suddenly called upon, and in deference to "rule and custom of time and place," stood up to be questioned.

"Mr. Hoover," said Professor Bishop, "will you kindly explain to us the cause and nature of electricity?"

The question surprised every one present but Hoover, all questions being upon any subject the class was engaged in studying were the same to him.

He colored up an instant, stammered, and took refuge in his usual formula.

"Professor," he said, "I know the answer to that question before I came to the class, but I have forgotten it."

"Are you sure you cannot remember it?" asked his teacher. "Take time and think, sir."

Mr. Hoover shook his head.

"No, sir," he said, "I knew it a little while ago but I have slipped my mind entirely."

"What a pity!" said the professor, approaching him and laying his hand upon Hoover's shoulder as he turned him about facing the visitors.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said, "look at this young man. Of all who have lived upon the face of the earth, no one person, but one, this Mr. Hoover, has the cause and nature of electricity and" continued Professor Bishop dropping his voice, "the pity of it is that he has forgotten it." I Came Board in Success Magazine.

Station Costing $21,000,000.

A union station representing an expenditure of $21,000,000 is nearing completion at Leipzig, Germany. It will be one of the largest stations in the world and it will be used by 12 railway lines. There are now five railway stations in Leipzig and these are to be abandoned with the opening of the new station.

Giving Himself Away.

"You are married, aren't you?" she asked as they took their seats at the table at the dinner party.

"Yes," he acknowledged. "How did you know?"

"You opened the door for yourself," she answered, "then went through leaving me to follow, instead of holding it and letting me pass through first."

The Answer.

"I've known a lot of men who stutter, but I never knew a stuttering woman."

"Women haven't time to be stuttering women."—Cleveland Leader.
